

Privacy Statement

Bridgerule Parish Council is committed to complying with the Data Protection Act 1998 to ensure that user privacy is respected.

Any information you supply to Bridgerule Parish Council via feedback forms, interactive polls or questionnaires on the Website, so long as it is not in breach of Bridgerule Parish Council's Terms of Use for the website, will only be used for the purpose for which you provided it. Personal information will help Bridgerule Parish Council to be more aware of your interests and needs and may be interpreted as statistical data used to help improve or shape Bridgerule Parish Council's services in the future.

Should Bridgerule Parish Council wish to use your information other than as statistical data or for any other purpose or publication, it will ask for your permission first.

Cookies

Bridgerule Parish Council may use cookies for some functional aspect of the website. Cookies stored on computers belonging to online users are only used for the purpose of recognising data to enable those functions to work. No other data is collected or stored for any other purpose.

Replies To Email

Council Staff will answer e-mails requesting replies as soon as possible, aiming to provide a reply within 28 days. This is to allow for the locating of any specific information that may be required, particularly when researching historical or complex material.

Security

Any members of staff processing personal details are made aware of their obligations of the Policy and the Data Protection Act 1998.

It should be noted that any information supplied to Bridgerule Parish Council via the website will not be sent using a secure transmission method. Users should be aware that it is possible that such information could be lost or intercepted, accidentally or otherwise. Users send personal information at their own risk.

Offensive Material

Any material submitted to the Bridgerule Parish Council via the website which is considered as directly offensive and inappropriate will be in breach of the Terms of Use of the Website. In such a case, Bridgerule Parish Council may disclose the material and your personal details to the Police. To discourage further breaches of the Terms of Use, Bridgerule Parish Council reserves the right to take action against you.